About the Film: For most of the last century, entry-level jobs were plentiful, and college was an affordable path to a fulfilling career. That world no longer exists. The feature-length documentary Most Likely to Succeed examines the history of education, revealing the growing shortcomings of our school model in today's innovative world. Directed by acclaimed documentarian Greg Whiteley, the film has been named "among the best edu-documentaries ever produced" by Education Week, and called a "smart and engaging look at education in the 21st century" by The Hollywood Reporter. Film Threat stated that "this film should be a required course for all parents and educators." Most Likely to Succeed is an official selection of many of the nation's top film festivals, including the prestigious 2015 Sundance Film Festival and Tribeca Film Festival. Most Likely to Succeed is 89 minutes in length. This film is not rated but is recommended for viewers ages 14 and up. Learn more and view a trailer on the film website: mltsfilm.org
